DESCRIPTION

Serving as the general contractor, CGT Construction executed the ground-up new construction of this 6-unit residential development in Philadelphia, transforming a complex vision into a high-value reality. Leveraging extensive industry expertise, this project required a sophisticated balance of elevated design and technical precision—from initial engineering and site feasibility to final turn-key delivery. By integrating modern layouts with durable, high-performance systems and intentional finishes across all six residences, we maximized value and long-term yield for our investment partners without compromising on craftsmanship. This development stands as a premier example of our commitment to excellence in multi-unit construction, delivering exceptional living spaces built for structural durability and timeless urban style.
